

SHOT DEAD BY PURSUING MOB

Trying to Escape Angry Husband, Man Is Surrounded and Killed.

WOMAN DEFENDS HIM.

Denies He Attacked Her, as Supposed, but Says They Were Going to Elope—Men Who Did Shooting Known.

MONROE, Mich., Aug. 28.—Walter Lemmerand, lately from Toledo, came home today and found a man visiting his wife. A quarrel ensued, the man finally running from the house. An officer attempted to arrest him when he ran down Third street, a crowd pursuing.

A cry was raised and the mob began to shoot. He ran into a corn field, where he was surrounded and shot dead, a bullet penetrating his heart.

The woman denies that he attacked her. Mrs. Lemmerand says: "The man was sitting in the parlor with me when my husband came home. There was nothing wrong."

The two men whose shots killed the victim are known and arrests will soon ensue.

Mrs. Lemmerand later told the Sheriff that the dead man was Joseph Labarge, of No. 219 Cherry street, Toledo. She says that she and Labarge had planned an elopement.

An autopsy was performed on Labarge's body and the inquest will be held tomorrow. No arrests will be made until after the inquest.

(Special to The Evening World.)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Warden Pyc, of the jail here, has been asked by the Rochester police to look out for Jacob Benedict, otherwise known as "Frenchy," who is a suspect in the murder of William Hickey a week ago in that city.

Benedict escaped from the White Plains jail on Jan. 1, 1901, disguised as a tramp. He had been arrested on a charge of burglary.

BEAUTIFUL DUCHESS WEDS GRECIAN PRINCE TO-DAY.

Daughter of Grand Duke Vladimir Bride of Prince Nicholas of Greece.

GRAND DUCHESS HELENE AND PRINCE NICHOLAS OF GREECE

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 28.—The nuptials of the Grand Duchess Helene, daughter of the Grand Duke Vladimir of Russia, and Prince Nicholas, third son of King George of Greece, were celebrated to-day.

The Grand Duchess Helene is the most beautiful royal personage in Europe and is renowned for her wit and accomplishments. She is only twenty years of age. Her brother, the Grand Duke Boris, is now touring the United States.

Prince Nicholas is an ideal type of Greek manhood. He proved himself a good soldier and since the war with Turkey has won new laurels as a litterateur. One of his comedies, which won a prize, though the authorship was anonymous, has enjoyed a successful run in Athens. He was once reported engaged to Queen Wilhelmina.

The Grand Duchess has also been reported engaged many times. Prince Maximilian, Prince Louis Bonaparte and Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria having been ardent suitors for her hand. Her imperial uncle, the Czar, is delighted with her marriage to the Greek Prince and his gifts were most elaborate.

LOCKED UP IN CELL BY THEMSELVES.

Two Employees in the New Tombs Act as Their Own Jailers Without Knowing It.

Pending the arrival of an expert locksmith from Columbus, O., Isaac Goldstein, of No. 100 Elm street, and Max Reuben Strickler, of No. 176 Norfolk street, were prisoners in a cell on the fifth floor of the new section of the Tombs.

While cleaning the rubbish from that tier with other workmen they talked of the new locking system being put on the cells. They said they did not understand it. While they were inside one of the cells their companions closed the door and shut the lock over.

The lock system had not been completed, and the result was that the door jammed into the steel framework and was wedged as securely as though they had been welded.

The lock was sprung and it could not be released. It locked at the same time five other cells on that floor.

Warden Van De Car was called, but neither he nor his guards knew anything of the working of the locks, as that part of the prison had not yet been opened.

Machinists and locksmiths were sent for, but none of them could release the men. Finally, a dozen of the hardest and finest steel saws were secured and the machinists went to work on the bars, but the saws were ineffective against the hardened steel bars.

Then it was decided that the two men would have to wait until day broke. A locksmith from the plant of the Van Dorn Iron Works, in Columbus, O., which equipped the new cells with the hard-to-open locks, arrived. P. J. Carlin, the builder of the new section of the Tombs, telegraphed to Columbus for a locksmith and one is now on the way.

Word was sent to the families of the two men, and this morning their wives visited them in the Tombs. The Warden had supplied them with blankets and sent them food.

While the men were lamenting their temporary incarceration and believing that they would have to wait until day broke, the locksmith arrived. The Tombs engineer tackled the lock. He used an oil can liberally and suddenly the lock opened. Then with a crowbar he pried the door open and Goldstein and Strickler walked out.

'DEAD' DAUGHTER IS ALIVE IN THE COURT

Zimmer, Who Sued for Insurance on Her Life, Was Chagrined When She Turned Up and Defeated His Suit.

David Zimmer, of No. 343 Gold street, Brooklyn, brought suit against the John Hancock Life Insurance Company to secure the payment of a policy for $115, which had been issued on the life of his daughter, Annie. The girl took the policy out twelve years ago and paid the premiums on it regularly until seven years ago, when she mysteriously disappeared.

The suit was brought in the First District Municipal Court. Zimmer knew that the insurance law provided that if a "risk" had not been heard of during seven years the person was legally dead. He continued the payments on his daughter's policy until the seven years elapsed and then brought the suit. He was represented by Lawyer Hamilton Anderson, Zimmer and his two daughters swore that they had heard nothing of Annie since her disappearance seven years ago.

Lawyer Hirsch and Hirsch's appeal for the insurance company. At the close of the testimony of the Zimmer's Lawyer Hirsch called.

"Miss Annie Zimmer!" Instantly there was a gasp in the courtroom. Miss Zimmer walked in from an adjoining room, where she had been kept since the beginning of the trial.

"She is not my daughter," declared Zimmer, rising to his feet. But the young woman convinced the Court that she was and the case was dismissed.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP PRESIDENT'S THEME

Tells People of Newport, N. H., that Proper Government Comes from Application of Principles of Fair Dealing.

NEWPORT, N. H., Aug. 28.—A large assembly greeted President Roosevelt on his arrival here from New York this forenoon. The President addressed the crowd for about ten minutes. He said:

"It has been to me a very great pleasure to visit your State, and above all to meet your people. Your town here is a curious exact reproduction of America as a whole. You have many factories in your town—shoes, linens, underwear. You have many farms, farms outside, and you therefore have in this community the farmer and the townsman, the employer and the wage worker, the farm owner and the hired man."

You have all the component parts that go to make up the great days of our country. In your four or five thousand citizens in the town and adjacent districts, which the representatives of whom I am addressing you have produced all the essential types of all our people among our daily millions of inhabitants of the nation as a whole."

These are the men who do the work of our country. They are the men who do the duty in time of peace—that means the duty of the citizen, and in time of war—the duty of the soldier. In other words, you have here the men who do the duty in time of peace—that means the duty of the citizen, and in time of war—the duty of the soldier. In other words, you have here the men who do the duty in time of peace—that means the duty of the citizen, and in time of war—the duty of the soldier."

"There is not any law that is good government any more than there is a good road to leading. You can give a good road a bad name, and the same with the law. You can give a bad name to a good law, and the same with the law. You can give a good law a bad name, and the same with the law. You can give a bad name to a good law, and the same with the law."

"You can frame laws and have a good constitution, and after all has been done that you can do in that way, you have accomplished simply the creating of conditions which will make it difficult for you to have a good government."

"In this government, right here in your own town, you have it in your hands to secure fair dealing, honest obedience to the law, and in your life, and you can only secure that by the good government, that kind of social betterment by each doing his duty in the ordinary work day matters."

"It is the same in the nation as it is in the town. The only way to have a good government is to have a good citizen. It is the same in the nation as it is in the town. The only way to have a good government is to have a good citizen. It is the same in the nation as it is in the town. The only way to have a good government is to have a good citizen."

TRIED TO DIE TO ENRICH MOTHER.

Out of Work and Money Young Man Attempts Suicide so Aged Parent May Get His Insurance.

Out of work and with an aged mother dependent upon him Maurice Vogel, of No. 624 East One Hundred and Fifty-second street, decided to kill himself with carbolic acid that his mother might receive what insurance he had on his life.

Vogel had no employment for several months and the little money he had saved was soon exhausted in paying rent and buying groceries for himself and his mother. Day after day he walked the streets searching for work, willing to take anything.

As the rent was due on Sept. 1 and there was no prospect of his securing employment, Vogel decided to sacrifice himself that his mother might be cared for temporarily at least. After hiding her an affectionate good-bye to-day he started out to again look for work. With 10 cents in his pocket he made one or two unsuccessful efforts and then went to a drug store and bought carbolic acid.

Returning home he told his mother he was not feeling well, and went to his room. There he swallowed the acid, and Mrs. Vogel hearing her son's groans became alarmed and called in a policeman, who summoned an ambulance from the Lebanon Hospital. The ambulance surgeon administered antidotes and vigorously used a stomach pump with the result that young Vogel will probably live. The young man was taken to the hospital a prisoner on a charge of attempted suicide, but the need for money to pay the rent and buy groceries for his old mother still exists.

COURT DENOUNCES ACT OF UNION MEN

Magistrate Flammer Says No Man's Right to Work Shall Be Interfered With—Holds Garbarino in $1,000.

"A man has the right to work, and no labor union has the right to prevent this doing so. It is not so much a personal offense as it is an offense against our liberty and the genius of our institutions. That we cannot stand."

Thus spoke Magistrate Flammer in the Tombs Court to-day, when Lawyer John Hoyer asked the Magistrate to reduce the bail of $1,000 which he had fixed in the case of Joseph Garbarino, nineteen years old, of No. 112 Park Row. Garbarino had been arrested charged with assaulting Paul H. Burns, a press feeder, in the employ of the Wyckoff, MacKenzie, Crawford Company, in Pearl street. There had been a strike of the firm's press feeders and Burns alleged that Garbarino and others held him up on Park Row, near the Bridge, called him a scab, and that the prisoner assaulted him.

Garbarino was arraigned before Magistrate Flammer to-day and was held in $1,000 bail for trial. His counsel, Hoyer, thought the sum excessive and asked that it be reduced, which produced the above remarks by the Magistrate.

ROUND UP OF CATS EXCITES BELLEVUE.

Seventeen Felines Caught After Exciting Chase—Doctors Take Part in Sport—Eight Little Puppies Found.

One of the periodical round-ups of cats took place to-day on the grounds and in the buildings of Bellevue Hospital in compliance with the orders of Deputy Superintendent Rickard. Seventeen pussies were captured after exciting chases, popped into burlap bags and turned over to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Attendant Johnson and Smythe were named official cat-catchers, but the doctors became so interested in the hunt that they were soon chasing cats about the grounds. One feline, in her attempts to escape, climbed up the grating in front of a window in the insane pavilion and startled the patients there. After Johnson, in a corner of the grounds near the stable, found a litter of eight little puppies with their mother. They, too, were sent away.

As soon as Bellevue is cleared of cats by one of the periodical raids new ones arrive and select domiciles in nooks and corners. Most of them are ordinary old tramp cats.

DR. VAN DE WATER'S DENIAL.

Harlem Clergyman Speaks at Last in Regard to Watt's Charges.

Dr. George R. Van De Water, rector of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, at One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, whose name has been drawn into the Watt divorce case, gave out the following statement to-day:

"Having had time since my return from Europe to read what had been published concerning me, I desire now to say to the press that the statement of my wardens and members of my vestry made in my absence with reference to the insinuations against my character, is wholly justified."

"My relations with my parishioners have been at all times what they ought to be, and any intimation by any person that they have been otherwise is grossly untrue."

ARMORY BOARD FIGHTS AWARD.

Believes Price Fixed by Condemnation Commissioners for New Armory Site in Brooklyn Is Too High.

The action now in court against the award of the Condemnation Commissioners in the selection of a site for the new armory for Troop X in Brooklyn, was discussed by the members of the Armory Board at a meeting to-day. The Corporation Counsel is conducting the action against the award as excessive on a resolution passed by the Board at its last meeting.

Bids were opened for making repairs and alterations to several armories in this borough and Brooklyn. The bids will be compared and the contracts awarded at a lump or aggregate sum for each contract.

A letter was read from Clinton & Russell, architects, in which they reported that the walls on the ruins of the Seventy-first Regiment were not in condition to be used, and recommended that they be razed. The letter also stated that the cellar of the place was filled with rubbish and that it would be necessary to expend about $15,000 to put the foundation in condition to go ahead with a new building.

1,500 CHILDREN TO ADVERTISE BUTCHER

Canter Attempts to Send Them All Out Riding in Pony Carts Equipped with Signs.

Alexander L. Canter, a Seventh avenue butcher, aroused his whole neighborhood to-day by a novel advertising scheme. He caused the news to be circulated that he would give all the children who desired it a free ride in a pony carriage.

At the appointed hour—2 o'clock—there were 1,500 children gathered around Canter's place of business. To accommodate the crowd he had five pony carriages capable of seating ten children each. Every child wanted to take the first ride, and so great was the confusion that Canter had to send for the police.

After a time fifty children were loaded in the carriages and given a ride down Seventh avenue to Twenty-third street, across to Sixth avenue, up Sixth avenue to Thirty-fourth street, west to Seventh avenue, and back to the meat shop. Canter said that he hoped to give each of the anxious 1,500 a ride during the afternoon.

Each of the pony carriages was equipped with a big sign advertising the butcher's business.
